01 · Calling Delegates Back to Order

At 11:50 AM, stand at the Dais and politely ask delegates to return to their seats.

CD

“Honourable delegates, may I have your attention, please?

The tea break has now concluded. I request all delegates to kindly return to their respective seats and maintain silence as we prepare to resume the proceedings of the United Nations General Assembly.

Please ensure that your placards are visible and that you are ready for the continuation of today's session.

Thank you for your cooperation.”

[Pause until delegates are seated and the room is quiet.]

06 · Transition to Moderated Caucus 3

CD

“Honourable delegates,

Before the break, we discussed the impact of climate change on developing countries, as well as the importance of climate finance, technological assistance, and international responsibility.

We will now shift our focus towards practical solutions and stronger international cooperation.

Our next session will be the third moderated caucus.

The topic is:

‘Strengthening International Cooperation for Climate Adaptation, Mitigation, and Disaster Preparedness.’

Delegates will have the opportunity to present practical proposals concerning emission reduction, renewable energy, climate adaptation, and international disaster preparedness.

I encourage all delegates to participate actively and constructively.

The floor is now open for delegates wishing to speak.”
